As a human family we all are deeply connected.
honouring statement

As a human family we all are deeply connected. We experience this feeling of connection in times of both profound joy and at times of deep sorrow and questioning. In our work we encounter situations and people who challenge our core beliefs, expectations for recovery, notions of security and hope that things can get better.

As a staff team we have collectively dedicated many years to the care of others, and we have witnessed the fragility and suffering of many people.

One of those people was ..........................................

Today we remember them with respect and with love.

We also honour the care that we offered as a team of committed health professionals. As we move forward in our work, the kindness and holding of one another will support our emotional, psychological and spiritual health. When we pay attention to and honour these aspects of ourselves, we honour all those we have cared for and those we will care for in the future.
